Student Values and Expectations

Preamble

Xavier College strives to support the holistic formation of all our students to grow to be 'Men for Others'. This is a central tenet of Jesuit education and so must be central to our beliefs and actions.

Therefore, it is fundamental to this desire that all members of the Xavier College community not only have the right to be treated with respect, but that each has the personal responsibility to act with, and afford others respect. This includes students, staff, volunteers, parents and members of the public. This level of respect is to be shown in all interactions, both in person and online. This requires qualities such as self-reliance, self-respect and self-discipline. Every student is entitled to the support of all other Xavier College students; students must stand up and take affirmative action when they are aware of disrespect or wrong being perpetrated by or against others.

The Code recognises the personal dignity and worth of all, as it does individual difference and the importance of allowing every individual to enter into positive relationships with all who are fellow members of the Xavier College community. Being a person for and with others means showing compassion through every interaction.

How members of the community appropriately regulate behaviours, communicate, extend courtesies, respond empathetically, present themselves and demonstrably respect and uphold the standards and expectations of the College is integral to upholding membership in this community.

The Xavier College Student Code acknowledges the College's fundamental responsibility for the care, safety and wellbeing of all its students, as well as its moral and legal responsibility to provide a safe and secure environment for all.

As such, there is not simply the responsibility but also the requirement for all Xavier College students to understand, acknowledge and uphold these rights and responsibilities. In this way, all students give effect to the College's value of these ideals such that their actions tangibly contribute to building friendly relations and a positive culture that will underscore all facets of the Xavier College community.

Actions that work against the fundamental and inalienable right of all to be happy, safe, known, accepted, valued and able to fulfil their every potential, or actions that work against the Context or Guiding Principles of the College, its aspirational intentions for the formation of all graduates, or its wider values, policies, practices or reputation, have no place.

Student Code

As members of an Ignatian educational community, we are charged with the responsibility of upholding and adding to a 450-year-old tradition. Furthermore, this distinct tradition must be visible in everything we do.

The Student Code encourages all students to contribute authentically to our shared goal of forming people of conscience, competence and compassion who will be well-placed to make a difference in an ever-changing world.
